

HOMESELLER'S GUIDE

Discover new insights on your journey to sold.

Le Ann Stephens
(208) 861-7242
www.idaholeann.com

Unstoppable Starts Here

When you decide to work with a REMAX® agent, you can feel confident you've made a smart choice (and not just because REMAX is the #1 name in real estate¹).

There's a reason more buyers and sellers think of REMAX than any other real estate brand², and it lies in more than 50 years of experience, adaptability and evolution. This brokerage is not a pop-up, a trend or a fad. These roots run deep, and experience runs wide — network-wide. You can trust the REMAX foundation was built strong.

Founded in 1973 by Dave and Gail Liniger, REMAX stands for “Real Estate Maximums.” The new name and concept intended to disrupt the industry by creating an innovative, entrepreneurial culture that affords its agents and franchisees the flexibility to operate their businesses with greater independence.

And disrupt it did.

Now, with more than 145,000 agents in nearly 9,000 offices and a presence in over 110 countries and territories, nobody in the world sells more real estate than REMAX³.

It took unstoppable grit, continuous learning, agile navigating and, most of all, passion. That's why the REMAX network offers more real estate sales experience than other agents, giving you the confidence to navigate any market with a trusted professional.

¹Source: MMR Strategy Group study of unaided awareness. ²Source: MMR Strategy Group study of unaided awareness among buyers, sellers, and those planning to buy or sell; asked, when they think of real estate brands, which ones come to mind? ³As measured by total residential transaction sides.

A high-angle photograph of three people in a modern office setting, surrounded by cardboard boxes. On the left, a man with a beard and brown hair, wearing a light green sweater over a white collared shirt and dark trousers, holds a roll of yellow tape and a roll of white packing tape. In the center, a woman with dark hair, wearing a grey sweater over a white collared shirt and brown trousers, holds a cardboard box filled with blue folders and green plants. On the right, a man with a beard and short brown hair, wearing a light blue sweater over a white collared shirt and dark trousers, holds a large, flat cardboard box. The office has a white desk with a computer monitor, a green desk lamp, and a brown leather office chair. A white shelving unit with blue folders is in the background. The floor is light grey tile. The text "You Got This" is written in a large, dark blue font in the upper right corner.

You Got This

EXPLORE THESE HELPFUL TOPICS INSIDE

- How to find the right listing agent.
- The do's and don'ts when listing and showing your home.
- Selling strategies for move-up buyers.
- Important terms you should know.

Selling a home can be complicated. From preparing the property and marketing the listing, to the negotiations and paperwork there's plenty to do. If you're ready to begin the selling process or simply want to plan ahead, this guide is an ideal starting point.

Find the REMAX Agent That's Right For You

Le Ann Stephens
(208) 861-7242
www.idaholeann.com

TOP QUESTIONS TO ASK AN AGENT

1. Are you a full-time real estate agent?
2. How much experience do you have in my neighborhood?
3. Can you provide references?
4. How many homes have you listed and sold in the last year?
5. What services and resources do you offer?
6. How does the homeselling process work and what is expected of me?
7. How long are homes in my neighborhood usually on the market?
8. How would you price and market my home?
9. How many open-house tours do you conduct? Are you willing to add more?
10. What property disclosure laws apply to me?
11. What does the listing agreement entail and what is your fee?
12. What happens if you (or another agent) find a buyer to purchase my house?
13. What happens if I'm not happy with your services?
14. Anything else I should know?

Choosing the right agent can make a difference in the quality of your entire homeselling experience. And working with a REMAX agent means you unlock access to current market information. Ask your REMAX agent to set up market reports and listing valuations in MAXTech® powered by BoldTrail and listing alerts on remax.com.

My Commitments to Listings

In order to provide a higher level of service and achieve maximum exposure for your listing, I will do the following:

Personalized market based pricing strategy

Professional staging consultation (if needed)

Professional real estate photos; dedicated landing page for your listing!

Sign posted and lockbox provided; detailed showing instructions based on your preference through professional listing service.

Open House scheduled throughout listing

Professional created Listing Binder placed in your home with relevant listing and location information

QR Code on sign for buyers to scan for information

Post listing on all real estate search websites

Just listed postcard mailed to your neighbors and throughout listing as needed.

Advertise listing on social media, including paid ads.

Network with realtors in your area;
Send your listing alert to my database

Weekly updates emailed with seller reports

...and anything else you need!

Using the above techniques I will work proactively to get buyers off the computer and into your listing!

Seller Do's & Don'ts

DO

Financially Prepare

Discuss all expenses and strategies for listing and marketing your home with your agent. And remember, the rate you pay an agent is negotiable, so consider the options and what it means for your bottom line. But be wary of deep discounts — more deals may mean an agent has less experience. A reputable agent, such as a REMAX agent, will be upfront and highly detailed, helping you to make confident and well-informed decisions.

Clear Out & Clean Up

You want potential buyers to imagine your house as their own, so clear out the clutter. Remove excess home décor, pack up the collectibles, put away the kids' toys and eliminate pet evidence (unless your home includes a pet amenity like a dog-washing station). You'll also want to clean everything, from the baseboards to the ceilings and every spot in between. In addition, keep the house at a comfortable room temperature and avoid strongly scented air fresheners.

Update & Upkeep

Impress house hunters with simple yet visually appealing updates. Inside, consider swapping out old light fixtures, painting the walls a light neutral color with white trim and replacing older carpets with new hard flooring. Outside, remember to trim bushes and trees, pull weeds, keep the grass cut or the driveway shoveled and add greenery and flowers for a flattering first impression.

Organize & Categorize

Arrange furnishings to complement the size, traffic flow and natural light of the room. If you're not sure, consult a professional stager. You'll also want to organize all of your paperwork: inspection reports, property disclosures, appliance manuals, etc. Then, categorize them in an easy-to-access binder for quick reference. A REMAX agent can help with all of these details.

Respect & Respond

Stay open to professionals' (appraiser, inspector, stager, etc.) suggestions on what changes can be made to make your home more broadly appealing. And don't be offended by a low offer; discuss a plan with your agent to respond to the buyer. You'll likely let them know the offer was too low, but that you are serious about accepting a better one.

DON'T

Fall Behind

Selling your house is hard work, but it's important to stay up to date on your responsibilities. Once you find a buyer, you must continue caring for the property as well as paying your mortgage and utility bills so you don't have extra costs to cover at closing.

Get Impatient

The time it takes to sell a home varies based on market conditions (and you may start to feel antsy). But no matter how fast or slow the sale of your house moves, it's important to avoid entering into negotiations with buyers who aren't preapproved for a mortgage. Also, listen to your agent and set the price according to market conditions. Pricing it too high can keep it on the market and make it appear unattractive, flawed or stale.

Hide or Hover Your home needs to be ready when buyers are. So it's best you don't request a 24-hour notice or allow your phone or emails to go unanswered. Also, inform your agent of any audio or video equipment in and around the home, as local laws and rules may require action for home tours. And finally, make sure to leave during showings. Buyers appreciate space and may feel uncomfortable sharing their thoughts if you're present. A good agent will share feedback from each tour to keep you informed.

Forget To Think Beyond the Sale

If you have an existing home to sell, you might anticipate excess funds after closing. But if you're purchasing another home, it's recommended to check in with your real estate agent and mortgage professional before acting. Life happens. You might need to replace a car, find a new loan, add to credit card balances or pull from savings. A quick check-in can help you understand how these actions may impact your finances, so you can avoid unforeseen complications in the future.

Do It All or Leave It All

Working with a real estate agent can be invaluable. Why try to do it all when you can hire a professional agent with the experience and expertise to do it for you? However, when you hire a real estate agent, don't leave it all up to them. You'll have a number of personal responsibilities to manage to help make your homeselling experience successful.

Le Ann Stephens (208) 861-7242

www.idaholeann.com

CLEAN UP THE CLUTTER

When listing your house and preparing for showings, it's best to organize your space. A good rule of thumb is to sort through all the items you don't use regularly and sort them into three piles: pack it, donate it and discard it.

Pack It

If you're packing up, consider renting a portable storage container, they're delivered to your home, picked up when full and stored until you need them again. Just note: if your property or HOA doesn't allow portable units, look into a nearby storage facility as a backup option.

Donate It

For the items you're donating, a number of charities now offer scheduled donation pick-ups. Visit your favorite charity's website to learn when they'll be in your neighborhood.

Discard It

For the items you're discarding, first make sure they can be discarded. Certain items need to be recycled or properly disposed. Check with your municipality website to find a convenient and affordable way to properly dispose of certain materials. If what you have truly can be discarded, consider renting a dumpster for large quantities.

SIX STAGING SUGGESTIONS

Not interested in hiring a professional stager? Consider these six staging suggestions to help enhance your home:

1. FIX minor flaws and imperfections; buyers don't want deferred maintenance issues.
2. REMOVE excess furniture from rooms and clutter from countertops to make spaces appear larger.
3. CLEAN and organize everything including garages, closets, storage rooms and laundry rooms. Buyers look everywhere.
4. WASH windows, pull back curtains and turn on lights in dim rooms to brighten areas and make rooms appear larger.
5. PAINT walls in light neutral tones and pack up family pictures so buyers can envision their décor preferences.
6. MANAGE your yard; shovel the paths, mow the lawn, plant flowers and remove cobwebs from the door frames and light fixtures.

Three Strategies for Move-Up Buyers

As a move-up buyer, you're likely in a better financial position than when you purchased your first home, and a REMAX agent can help optimize your new selling strategy. If you have an existing home, you probably have savings or equity, which can make the move feel less like a compromise and more of a thoughtful selection. That said, the logistics of upgrading your location and home can present new challenges and requires a carefully considered plan.

SELL FIRST, BUY LATER The "Sell First" strategy is ideal if you're a move-up buyer who doesn't want to be stuck paying two mortgages simultaneously. It also reduces the chances of having to lower your asking price if the sale isn't happening at your preferred pace. This is a good option for move-up buyers who are banking on the proceeds of their sale to fund their new property. By selling first, you'll know exactly how much money you have to purchase your next home.

BUY FIRST, THEN SELL If you're buying in a seller's market, then buying first might be the way to go. By buying your new home before selling your current one, you won't feel rushed into settling for a property that doesn't meet your needs, or having to seek temporary housing while you shop in a tough market. You'll still live in your existing home, allowing you time to shop and continue looking until you find that perfect place. Note: This could require a bridge mortgage.

TIME AND ALIGN YOUR PURCHASE AND SALE

Aligning your purchase and sale closing dates can be tricky. Remember that there are three parties to these transactions: you, the person you're buying from and the person you're selling to, each with possible varying contingencies. You'll also have to move out and move in on the same day. In this scenario, flexibility is your best friend. You'll need to plan ahead, research neighborhoods, be preapproved for a mortgage and have started the organizing and decluttering process before the big move.

Your move-up strategy will depend on a number of factors, such as your financial situation, the current housing market conditions and your comfort level. Prepare yourself by choosing to work with a knowledgeable REMAX agent who can ensure a smooth transaction at both sides of the offer table.

Le Ann Stephens
(208) 861-7242
www.idaholeann.com

Homeseller's Glossary

Asking Price: The price that the seller has agreed to list their property for. The asking price is different from the selling price, which is the final price that has been agreed upon by the buyer and seller.

Balanced Market: There is an equal balance of buyers and sellers in the market, which means reasonable offers are often accepted by sellers, and homes sell within a reasonable amount of time and prices remain stable.

Bridge Financing: A short-term loan designed to "bridge" the gap for homebuyers who have purchased their new home before selling their existing home. This type of financing is common in a seller's market, allowing homebuyers to purchase without having to sell first.

Buyer's Market: There are more homes on the market than there are buyers, giving the limited number of buyers more choice and greater negotiating power. Homes may stay on the market longer, and prices can be stable or dropping.

Chattels: Unattached items in the home that can be removed without doing any damage to the property, such as curtains, but not the curtain rods since they are physically attached to the home. Chattels are usually not included with the home purchase, unless specified in the Purchase and Sale of Purchase Agreement.

Closing: This is the final step in the homeselling process. Once all offer conditions outlined in the Agreement of Purchase and Sale have been met, at the end of the closing period, ownership of the property is transferred to the buyer and the keys are exchanged on the closing date outlined in the offer. Dates vary by location. Be sure to ask your real estate agent.

Contingencies: When the sale of the home hinges on predetermined conditions, such as "conditional on financing" or "conditional on a satisfactory home inspection." If the conditions are not met, the buyer can back out of the deal.

Counteroffer: When the original offer to purchase a home is rejected by the seller, the seller can counteroffer with adjustments, usually to the price or terms of the purchase, such as the closing date.

Curb Appeal: The appeal of a home when viewed from the curb. Curb appeal includes the home's exterior, front yard and anything else that's visible from the street.

Comparative Market Analysis: A comparative market analysis (CMA) is a report on comparable homes in the area that is used to derive an accurate value for the home in question.

Fixtures: Items that are physically attached to the home and require tools to remove. Fixtures are included as part of the purchase. Examples of fixtures include ceiling lights, cabinet hardware and appliances. If the seller plans to take any fixtures with them when they move, either remove them prior to listing the home, or be sure to specify the fixtures in the Agreement of Purchase and Sale.

FSBO: Acronym for "For Sale By Owner," meaning the seller hasn't retained the services of a licensed real estate agent or broker to assist with the sale of their home.

Home Value Estimator: A home value estimator is a tool, typically found online, that helps seller's estimate the value of their property. The result is an estimate and is different from a detailed CMA provided by a real estate agent.

MLS: The Multiple Listing Service, commonly referred to as the MLS is cooperative database for licensed real estate agents to share property listings

Offer: An offer is a legal agreement to purchase a home. An offer can be conditional on a number of factors, commonly conditional on financing and a home inspection. If the conditions are not met, the buyer can cancel their offer.

Seller's Market: In a seller's market, there are more buyers than there are homes for sale. With fewer homes on the market and more buyers, homes sell quickly in a seller's market. Prices of homes are likely to increase, and there are more likely to be multiple offers on a home. Multiple offers give the seller negotiating power and conditional offers may be rejected.

Staging: Preparing a home for sale to appeal to a wide range of homebuyers. The staging process often includes decluttering, depersonalizing, deep-cleaning and minor updates such as painting and rearranging furniture.

Le Ann Stephens
(208) 861-7242
www.idaholeann.com

Voted #1 Most Trusted Real Estate Agents¹

¹Voted most trusted Real Estate Agency brand by American shoppers based on the BrandSpark[®] American Trust Study, years 2022-2025 and 2019. The information contained in this guide is for informational and educational purposes only, and is not legal, business or real estate advice. Even though we have taken every reasonable effort to attempt to make sure that the information presented is accurate, up-to-date and useful, we can not guarantee that it is complete, correct or current. This guide is not a substitute for professional advice. Real estate laws, regulations and practices may vary from market to market. Consult with local professionals for specific advice. ©2025 RE/MAX, LLC. Each Office Independently Owned and Operated. 25_403